thank you to all who have called and written

THANK YOU to all who have written and called in regard to the just-concluded issues in dispute. Given the settlement reached, there's no need for them to take up bandwidth on this site, and so they have been removed, along with other, older material no longer relevant. Result: The site now loads much faster and is more focused, as we prepare to implement our new design. My goals have been achieved as the players fulfilled their roles in most predictable fashion, affording us an intimate look into the actual inner dynamics of marketing and personality politics. Some who have zero tolerance for even the most justified criticism or speculative reportage did indeed hysterically overreact and "circle the wagons" to counter a perceived "threat" which actually was designed as a test of how far they've come - or haven't come - in the past 4 years. The verdict is in from you all and the picture isn't pretty for 3 different people. And that's WITHOUT a certain audio recording being playable on this site for your dining and dancing pleasure! Once again DAMON has pulled back the masks certain people wear and shown you what's underneath.

That is our core mission statement, to show you - not tell you - the truth about what goes on in the industry.

Unlike a well padded Thai who has been entirely co-opted by the agenda of the eminence grise behind her, unlike those who hide behind anonymous domain registrations, and unlike a certain owner of a Boston video store who tries to maliciously interfere in other people's rights of commerce and association, I and my associates have no such motivations or dependencies, and continue to bring you what you continue to tell me you want: The ONE site on the Web which gives you the no-spin, no-hype REAL DEAL on the inner workings and personality dynamics of the gay entertainment industry:
